WHS Joins Ivy League

I.L.C. Praises School Spirit Watchung Conference Ousts WHS for Record

The wonderful school spirit of WHS was given as a chief reason for the school's acceptance in the Ivy League, according to Ivy Council president, Prince Brown. Not less than five nor more than twenty students attended any sports event this year. "Such spirit shows real Ivy colors," he commented, "as does the sportsmanship of the teams."

Super Excels WHS

The executive committee of the Watchung Conference has expelled WHS for failure to maintain the high athletic standards normally associated with the league.

Fearing similar punitive action, two other traditional push-overs, Scotch Meadows and Cranbridge voted against the measure.

Dr. George U. Surper, chairman of the committee, cited WHS' dismal athletic record this school year as sufficient reason for the measure. He stated, "The miserable football and wrestling teams failed to win once in conference play. The wrestlers did manage two victories against weak non-conference competition."

He added, "Only a narrow win over fellow doormat Cranbridge kept WHS' basketball team from the dubious distinction of failing to win a single conference game. Their cross-country team went the same way, beating only a pathetically weak Scotch Meadows squad."

Dr. George U. Surper presented a tape recording of this scene as evidence for the expulsion--"See that blonde in the third row, Jerry?" "Where, Ralph?"

Although there is no conference title in swimming, WHS persists in attempting to succeed in the aquatic sport. Their only swimming triumph in the last five years was against Pingrid, a much smaller private school. It is obvious that WHS doesn't belong in the same league with such perennial powers as Rawroad and Roshelle Bark," he concluded.

The Cranbridge, Scotch Meadows school newspapers have censored Dr. Surper's speech. This publication is printing it to familiarize students with the case before it is taken to court.

The High School is accusing the Watchung Conference of discrimination. After all, freedom to lose is guaranteed in the Bill of Rights.

WHS peppy cheerleaders lead excited student body in cheering team during basketball game. Even varsity players joined in the spirit.

Hi's Eye Spies Discover Prom Theme; Solve Mystery of the 75 White Sheets

Recently the Hi's Eye staff was informed that for the past few weeks the Junior Prom committees have been requesting a total of 75 sheets from junior homerooms. After a careful investigation the Hi's Eye discovered the theme planned for the prom.

The theme is "The Ice Age". It is in honor of the 2,579,004 anniversary of the Ice Age. The sheets will be draped over the bleachers to form a mountain. The WHS halls will be flooded for ice skating and a twelve degree temperature will be maintained throughout the evening.

Sweaters, parkas, and ski pants should be worn. The highlight of the evening will be kayak races in the Japanese garden, which will also be flooded.

I Spent Three Years In the Guidance Office by Ima Loser

Sophomore Year

Counselor: "Well son, how do you like the big school? Planning for college, I hope? Darnell? No I think your grades better spruce up. My that's a nice shirt. Where did you get it? --Oh, yes, college. Look into Euphoria, 80% of the WHS students go there."

Junior Year

Counselor: "You want to be a doctor? You should be an engineer with your math ability. Now that that is decided, where do you want to go to school? Euphoria? Who ever suggested that? You look like a Yardhar or Mouthdart man to me. Grades? You're so active they don't even look at your grades!"

Senior Year

Counselor: "You must have misunderstood! That rejection was due to grades. I knew activities did not mean much. I'm selling--er, I mean--I know you could get into Benn State."

Later

Student: "Mr. Dryville, I don't know what to do. You told me to apply to Benn State and it was the only one I'd apply to. I was rejected. Oh! What will I do now?"

Counselor: "Compose yourself. Maybe all is not lost. We will sit down and fill out an application to Onion Junior. I'm sure you will find it most stimulating. I forgot to mail your scholarship application. Well, worry about money later. There is plenty around. Did you ever hear of Euphoria? . . ."

Music By Lombardo Huskies

Music will be provided by Guy Lombardo and his Canadian Huskies. Suzanne Seal will be the special female vocalist who will do a clapping act and a horn blowing show. Special guest star for the evening will be Fang, dog of the north.

83 penguins will be shipped in from the South Pole for the occasion. Since there are no organizations which ship in polar bears from the North Pole, and nine are needed for a realistic effect, a polar bear expedition will be led by Mr. Walter Clarkson during spring vacation. Those interested sign up in 106. If the expedition fails to capture nine polar bears, will faculty members please come to 106 for their costumes.

Live Whale Hunt

The expedition will also attempt to bring back a whale, alive. If successful the court will be flooded also. Here the whale will be floated.

As a final attraction of the evening a skiing instructor will be flown to WHS from the Swiss Alps. He will demonstrate skiing techniques on the sheet mountain. One of the Hi's Eye on-the-spot reporters, Bill Mackay, was able to interview him skiing down the Swiss Alps. When asked what he thought of the fantastic theme the instructor commented, "Well, yes, yes; I think so."

WHIRLYBIRD INSERT

Because of the intended mockery of this issue, the Whirlybird High School Hi's Eye staff has published the insert pages under the pseudonym of Westfield High.

System Merits Highest Honor

The National Committee of the Ivy League Council elected WHS into membership Wednesday, March 14. The announcement, and presentation of the distinguished Service Circle was made here yesterday. The committee cited WHS' excellent faculty, facilities, student body, school spirit, athletic records, and exceptional courses as the reason for the honor. Thus, the Hi's Eye staff has decided to devote two pages to all these aspects of the school which demonstrate its worthiness of the award.

Student Council Minutes

President Gene Calpho called the eighty-first secret meeting of the Student Council to order at twelve midnight in the boiler room of WHS.

Following the oath of allegiance to The Boss, the representatives took their regular seats along the pipe lines.

The Council discussed the possibility of improving the various investigating committees, but finally agreed they were extremely efficient already.

The Publicity Committee has attracted no attention thus far, except for one unfortunate member's scribbling a press release. Fortunately, it was full of mistakes; the author was removed from the Council.

Other committees have remained equally inactive during the year. With no further business to discuss, the President said everyone could leave. Parliamentary procedure had been abolished at the previous meeting.

Faculty Offers New Electives

New English 5 Class promotes intellectual stimulation. Students now studying "Alice In Wonderland."

Several new electives have been added to the 1962-1963 curriculum, since this year's addition, English V, has proved so successful. (See picture) A brief description of the new courses follows.

Safe Driving II

In this course the students learn such things as how to beat a ticket or spy radar equip in advance. A typical mid-year exam would consist of a courtroom scene in which the student is being charged with reckless driving and speeding. If the driver can beat the charge, he passes; proven guilty, he fails.

Social Dancing

The students learn how to dance the latest steps: twist, mashed potatoes, slop, waltz, etc. Each month a teenage idol will visit. For the first two months the guests will be Chubby Checker and Fats Domino respectively. The Westfield Rescue Squad also attends.

Smoking I, II, III

In Smoking I the students learn the basic fundamentals of lighting a match and putting it to the cigarette. Homework is not advised. Smoking II students learn how to inhale (with finesse). A prerequisite is Smoking I. In the final course, Smoking III, the students learn to treat cancer.

Daily Bulletin

Roger *Maris' recent visit to WHS marked the first time a movie star had included this institution on a personal appearance tour. Mr. *Maris, better known in Hollywood circles as "Rock," is co-starring with Mickey Mantle in the new movie "Safe at Home."

In this production, Mr. *Maris portrays Ilbe Darned, a well-paid young baseball player engaged in a life-and-death struggle with older star Trick Nee, played by Mr. Mantle, to hit 61 home runs in one season.

The two stars are continuously feuding throughout the season. Both resort to such foul methods as hiring mobs of gangsters with pens to ambush each other outside the Gladitorial Arena, also known as Yankee Stadium.

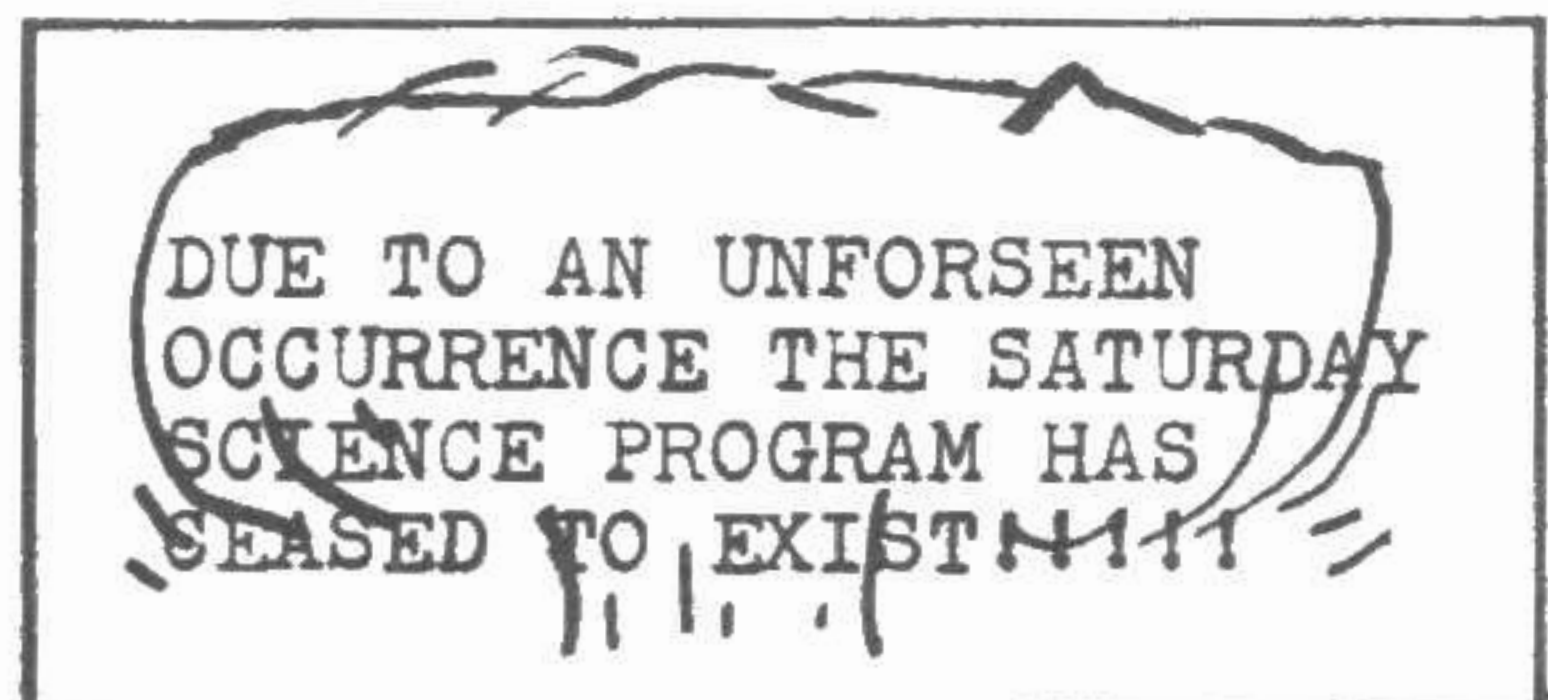

Bernie Schwartz is Dr. Ralph Houk, the team psychiatrist famous for his patient treatment of disturbed athletes. His psy-choanalysis reveals that Ilbe has a terrible fear of baseballs. Every time one comes near him, he tries to drive it far away with a wooden stick. While playing the outfield, the unselfish athlete does his best to make sure that no spectators are struck by that deadly little sphere.

Late in the season, Ilbe trips Trick in the shower and injures him, thus gaining a monopoly in the home run field. After keeping the little pellets away during a post-season competition in October, he returns to his home to spend the winter doing television commercials.

Asked by this reporter why he was chosen to do this picture, Mr. *Maris replied, "I have some experience in the game. I pick up a few odd dollars in the summer playing baseball in a spacious field in the Bronx not too far from where the Mets will play.

This is the daily bulletin for Friday, March 16, 1962. The correct time is now 8:30 a.m., and the temperature is 42 degrees fahrenheit.

We would like to congratulate the WHS tiddly-winks team for its stirring victory over Pingry. Special thanks to Coach Joe Disc who, although ejected for foul language, still gave much moral support in the presence of his whip.

The High School would like to congratulate Dr. Leon Rolyat for having won the Noel Prize for Science for his brilliant work in determining why a tennis ball bounces.

Detention today,
Cafeteria A,
Mr. Lay,
HIP, HIP, HURRAY!!!

Will Mr. Lazzaro's History II classes please answer the following question for homework: Completely describe, discuss, explain, and analyze the communist movement among the faculty.

We are proud to announce that yesterday's Daily Bulletin lasted thirty-five minutes and twenty seconds, one half a second more than the previous record. We hope to surpass this stupendous high today.

At 2:35, in room 104, there will be a brief but important meeting of 14 of the 15 Prom committee chairmen. Please assemble to cut 400 paper dolls which will be favors for the 1000 students who will attend the prom, held from 8:30-1:00, May 4, 1962.

Congratulations to the Weathervane Magazine for at least getting a staff appointed. This has not been accomplished in the last two years. A job well done!!!

War has just been declared.

Thank you, that is al...llll...llll.

People on the way down

Clarence W. Dolittle Wins Trophy For Participation in WHS Clubs

Clarence Walter Dolittle, WHS' "most active senior", has just won the trophy for exceptionally outstanding participation in the school's club program. Clarence holds the highest record for club membership, belonging to 99 1/2 clubs. Because of these many varied interests, he also holds the lowest record for attendance in each.

When asked what he does with the little time he finds between all the meetings, he replied, "I often do homework in my spare time." This might indicate that his studying is rather irregular, but on the contrary, Clarence explained, I have a well regulated homework schedule now that it's becoming a habit for me to devote my time immediately after school studying in Cafeteria A".

As to his college board results, Clarence announced proudly, "I got a 500." "That's a total of 500," he added.

Clarence's most avid interest lies in Biology I, illustrated by three years' work in the course. The Advanced Biology Club is pleased to announce that with the addition of Clarence as their latest member, the club's membership has reached an all time high of 701. Only 593 WHS students take biology. The club is to be commended for this achievement.

WHS Students Honored By Ivy League Council

Through the compliance of Westfield students to those excellent rules from the Student Council Handbook, (really!) we have been selected among the most obedient students in the country by the I.L.C. For the benefit of other schools vainly striving to reach our standards of excellence, we have reprinted those of our rules which we feel are most helpful:

In good society one does not talk about persons, except to praise their good points. Everyone has faults and weaknesses, but it is kinder to seem not to notice them.

Keep cheerful, earnest, obliging, enthusiastic, loyal, faithful, eager, dependable, slow to anger, and be quick to admit your faults and accept criticism.

Avoid being conspicuous in any way.

We would also like to point out that compliance with these new rules will maintain our high standards.

Only seniors will be permitted to use the school bomb shelter in case of nuclear attack.

Rest rooms will be scrubbed daily during school hours and locked so as to remain clean for the rush hours before 8 a.m. and after 4 p.m.

Any boy found smoking in the girls' rooms will be expelled immediately.
